Bennett added to H<sub>2</sub>O quality advisory group

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry J. Bennett has been tapped by Governor Cliff Finch to serve on his Coastal Water Quality Advisory Committee.

In a letter to Bennett, the governor said, "I am convinced your participation will result in many benefits for the people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

"I fully expect our work on the committee to be a model for the rest of the nation," Finch added.

"I am honored to be asked to serve on this particular committee," Bennett responded.

"The 208 Water Study will be one of the most beneficial projects ever instituted to serve the people of Mississippi and other coastal regions for generations to come," the mayor continued.

The governor said he hopes Bennett's appointment will prove a "meaningful mechanism for local government and public participation in the coastal water quality project."

Bid, build deadlines met: HNC cafeteria on target

BY EDGAR PEREZ

Bids to construct a $275,000 cafeteria at Hancock North Central, with the capacity to feed four times the number of students fed in the present facility, are to be opened by the Hancock County School Board Thursday, Dec. 8.

Superintendent Terry Randolph said federal guidelines require that construction begin no later than Dec. 20.

The facility is to be financed in part with $175,000 in federal Economic Development Administration funds, with the remaining $100,000 granted from the State Educational Finance Commission building fund.

The remainder of $290,000 in Public Works Act monies granted to Hancock County, following a distribution determined by the board of supervisors, has been earmarked for industrial park development at Stennis Field by the Port and Harbor Commission, and for construction of a pedestrian walkway over U.S.-90 at Dunbar by the City of Bay St. Louis.

The new cafeteria will consist of a central kitchen flanked by the two dining rooms, one to serve high school students and the other to serve the elementary pupils.

Each dining room will seat double the number seated in the present facility, Randolph said.

Existing facilities are to be converted into teaching areas.

"This facility is desperately needed—

Diploma values may drop in ratio with 'Johnny can't read' syndrome

By EDGAR PEREZ

Mississippi high school students in the graduating class of 1982 may be eligible for one of three possible diplomas—advanced, general or basic—under the recommendations of a blue-ribbon committee which studied current graduation requirements.

Findings of the committee, developed during a year of study since November, 1976, are now being reviewed by school superintendents throughout the state.

The committee—established by the Mississippi Commission on School Accreditation, an arm of the State Department of Education—was composed of nine superintendents, the headmaster of a private academy, a classroom teacher, industry representative from South Central Bell, two Department of education officials and a junior college president.

Hancock County Superintendent of Schools Terry Randolph, following a preliminary review of the committee's findings, said he approves the recommendations with minor reservation.

Superintendent J. D. McCulloch of Muddy Main Street brings citizen ire,

mayor asks patience

Citizen complaints of inconveniences caused by the rain-hampered Main Street improvement project have prompted Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry J. Bennett to issue a statement explaining timetables involved in the work.

"Citizens must realize starting dates on federally-funded projects are set by the government," the mayor said in justification of the traffic disruption caused by blockades during the holiday shopping season.

"We certainly regret the project had to be started at this time of year when heavy rains and other weather conditions have an adverse effect on the situation," Bennett explained.

But if the city fails to meet construction deadlines set out by the federal government, the funds are withdrawn," he continued.

"We realize Main Street now inconveniences a great many people, and the mayor's office as well as the people involved in the project appreciate the citizens' understanding and cooperation," the mayor said.

County mentors take to air in first reassessment move

By JAKE JACOB

Guy Blankinship, Jr., director of equalization, Mississippi State Tax Commission, told the Hancock supervisors last Monday that anything they start this year will probably not become effective until 1980.

Blankinship was speaking on reassessment and equalization of taxes,

'Living Buildings'

proposal already

in effect at NSTL

by JAKE JACOB

The impact of a General Services Administration (GSA) announcement concerning its intent to make public buildings "truly public," will not noticeably alter community interface at NASA-NSTL.

Jay Solomon, head of GSA, made the announcement this week, stating his intent to encourage community use of public buildings for cultural, educational, and recreational purposes. He said he wanted to turn these structures into "Living Buildings" to benefit the taxpayers who paid for their construction and pay for their maintenance and operation.

Solomon said, "Many of these buildings have courtyards, plazas, auditoriums, theatres, courtrooms, and many other facilities that are ideal locations—sometimes the only suitable ones—for various community events."

"GSA is already contacting groups in many cities to offer them space for such activities as art and ethnic festivals."

an issue now before the courts, and one being pushed by private property owner and commerce and industry alike.

According to Mississippians Associated for Tax Equity (MATE), the group who brought suit against the tax commission, the need is for all property owners and taxpayers of the State of Mississippi, whose property is valued and assessed, to shoulder their fair and equitable share of the ad valorem tax burden at county, regional, district, and state levels.

To get Hancock's project underway, the supervisors decided to look towards the acquisition of an acceptable scale of aerial photography, a function they subcontracted to the Gulf Coast Regional Planning Commission, an initial step recommended by Blankinship.

The tax equalization director said that Hancock County is far ahead of the average county in its tax office, and had a tax assessor who went out into the field to personally inspect all the parcels on record.

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi has just celebrated its first birthday of residence in Bay St. Louis. Although the date passed without much fanfare, it was not because of lack of progress and development in Goodwill.

Goodwill located a retail store in the Bay-Waveland area last October to bring its program of help for the handicapped closer to the people of the area. At the same time Goodwill wanted to offer merchandise to the community at bargain prices.

Both phases of the program have begun successfully. Handicapped people are employed in the program. After a slow start, sales for the store have increased tremendously and from all indications residents appreciate the bargains available.

The success of the Goodwill store has been due to the citizens of the area—all the citizens, handicapped and non-handicapped, black and white, young and old, officials and voters.

Very instrumental in the firm establishment of Goodwill has been the support of community groups like the Senior Citizens, and especially the United Way. United Way funding, besides the financial benefits, has brought with it the official public acceptance so important for the continuance of a viable program. Goodwill Industries, its Board of Directors, staff and its handicapped workers take this opportunity to salute and thank the gracious community of Bay St. Louis for its assistance. We would also ask that the generous people of Bay St. Louis continue their support of the United Way which helps so many agencies like ourselves serve the needy.

THE FREEDOM TO MARKET

A freedom American farmers covet the most which has made one of the greatest contributions to the opulence of America has been the freedom to market what America produces to willing customers.

The magic word that motivates the free market system is price. If the price is great government expenditures for products that were stored for later sale by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Even postponed sales from this method have been known to seriously disrupt the delicate balance of current market conditions.

The American farmer has been called a lot of things and no doubt most of them are true - from rugged individualist to has been dictated to more often by a stubborn ol' mule than he would own up to. His lifestyle is influenced by a herd or flock or a maturing rowcrop. His patience is sometimes long, sometimes short.

Many of today's farmers are in trouble. The markets, the prices, the weather, even that benevolent government has turned some of its agencies loose on him. Some are busted; others, hanging on. Others, imagine it, doing pretty good. There is a difference in what you grow, when you grow it, and how. And what you sell, when you sell it, and how.

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors recently met in Jackson and somehow wanted to get this low key message across to 'you' - that agriculture has its problems. But they do not want to cash in their American freedom chips to any bailiff.

the backbone of America" to onery ol' cuss. And he is what he is because of the freedom he has enjoyed that has surpassed that of almost any other professional group. He can get out of bed when he pleases, but he usually pleases before the sun does. He is his own boss, but historically he too high the market falls apart. If it is too low the producers do. Somewhere in between these two extremes is the delicate balance created by human ingenuity on one side and human need on the other that makes this system unparalleled in worldwide achievement.

This is the system that goes with American agriculture with the same rhythm as apples with pie. And it is the system that today has some kinks in it that have a lot of farmers justifiably upset. And while it is away at times most folks who depend on it have learned the wisdom of the woodchopper who knows that the thing to do when he breaks his axe handle is to replace the handle - not throw away the axe.

Simply defined, price is what people are willing to pay for a product. Too high, it is an artificial price and won't work. Too low, it won't sustain its role. Just right, it is more a happiness bringer than Santa Claus.

Parity price is that devised price based on the relationship between average prices received by farmers and the wholesale price index during a certain time period. It is a nice thing to have when earned. It can be a dastardly thing when given.

When parity prices are given rather than earned they come from the federal treasury, or taxpayers' pockets. Such gifts may bail a group out of a crisis situation at others' expense, but offer no sound, long-term solution to a market problem.

While many forms of American businesses have been kept alive by transubstantiations from the federal till - such as railroads - agriculture and its chief spokesman, the American Farm Bureau Federation, believe that the least dependence on federal government is the best way farmers can go.

Agriculture has gone down the road of subsidy prices before. Subsidy prices also are payments from the federal treasury to provide a price floor when the market is abnormally low for a subsidized commodity. In the past this practice has resulted in

The first blessing we had this week was a baby boy. He was a whopper, he weighed in at 7 lbs. 11 oz. The stork brought him to Picayune. The proud parents who claimed him were Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Necaise. Congratulations Barbara.

We ran into the cutest pair of love birds this week. They were cooling off over the Hills. Anyone lucky enough to run into them could see how much they love each other. By the time you read this they will have told the world, as their wedding took place Nov. 26th in Nicholson First Baptist Church, Nicholson. The male is Donald Ray Ladner and the female is Mary Kathryn Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Keller and Donald Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Ladner. Good Luck Ya'll.

We spoke to Mrs. Agnel Moran in the library the other day. She told us her husband was taking her to the Waveland Resort Inn for dinner and a celebration. She wouldn't disclose what they were celebrating, but she was giggling like a teenager. Maybe next week we'll find out the secret. Knowing Aline, she won't be able to keep it too long.

We spoke to Charles H. Chappell on Bayou LaCroux. He told us that the Bass Masters of Gulfport had their tournament at his place. There were 12 boats holding 23 men. Between them they caught 100 fish. He said the club turned them loose after weighing them. A few of them weighed in at just under 4 pounds. Emile Henley, Jr. wasn't in the tournament but he caught 14 Crappie (Soc-A-Lait) Tuesday, using worms, right off Chuck's wharf.

Last week the Hills had a royal visitor from Louisiana who stayed overnight with us. Her name is Verna Vadochovich of Gretna. She is the Imperial of the International Turtle Club. Considering most of the local politicians and most of our famous astronauts are all Turtles, we would say with her own 3,000 little members she earned her title as Imperial Turtle. Come back to the Hills soon Verna. ARE YOU A TURTLE?? (YBYSIA-J)

We would like to congratulate our Hawks team on the swell game they played at the Pickle Bowl against Vandaveau.

Flash!! Received news the other day. Mrs. Willard Page will be a great grandmother come February as Sharon Pace, wife of Carl Dennis Pace, becomes a mother.

Last but not least was the best story we heard this week. We have a Senior Citizen who is an avid reader of the Echo and resides in New Orleans. Her name is Mrs. Ava Corzine. She was employed by the federal government for 25 years. Now retired, her hobbies are reading and knitting. Hi Miss Ava - from the Hills.

See ya at church or the races, Gweny

White Cypress by Yvonne Ladner

Mrs. Harvey Necaise of White Cypress says she would appreciate it if the person who took the arrangement of fall flowers from her husband's grave in the Necaise Crossing Cemetery would return it and she would be more than glad to have one made for them if they will call her but please don't take the one from her husband's grave.

Get well wishes are extended to all the sick of the area. These include Little Miss Hope Ladner, daughter of Billy Royce and Valerie Ladner; Daisy Hudson, who suffered a fall and is recuperating from a back injury in Poplarville hospital; also Burnis Ladner, who suffered a heart attack and has been transferred to Hattiesburg. We understand Chandler Ladner has returned home from the hospital but is still on the sick list.

The Jr. High Basketball teams of Hancock North Central have started off a busy schedule. Their latest games being with Stone on Monday. This trip netted only one win and three losses but they were all very good games. The seventh and eighth grade girls each lost and the seventh grade boys also lost after playing hard games. The eighth grade boys won the last game of the night.

The fans enjoyed a very exciting and enjoyable game with Poplarville Tuesday night and saw the high school teams of Hancock North Central come away victorious from both games.

With deer hunting season opening you need to be very careful while driving along the roads and highways especially from Kiln to Necaise Crossing. We haven't heard of very many deer being killed. If anyone has any details of this I would appreciate a call.

Everyone is so busy getting their big Thanksgiving dinners started no one seems to have any news items to report so "Happy Thanksgiving Day" even though you are reading this later.

Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Bowen united in afternoon ceremony

Miss Deborah Allen Favre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Favre of Bay St. Louis, became the bride of Michael Anthony Bowen, son of Auther Bowen of Cullman, Ala., and the late Mrs. Geraldine Bowen, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 12, in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Father Jack Smith, associate pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by tall baskets of autumn flowers. Mrs. John McKenna, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory organza over taffeta. The bodice featured a V-shape yoke of Chantilly lace edged in a wide ruffle trimmed with matching lace and long full sleeves ending in lace cuffs. The full skirt, edged with a wide flounce, was trimmed with Chantilly lace. She wore a picture hat of ivory silk straw and an accordion pleated chiffon choker, edged by a band of lace and matching ribbon streamers. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies interspersed with baby's breath and beige ribbons. She wore her great-grandmother's gold locket.

Mrs. Brenda Graves of Gulfport attended the bride as matron of honor and Alisha LaFontaine, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. They wore floor length beige knit gowns with matching jackets and beige picture hats trimmed with brown ribbon bands and matching ribbon streamers.

The matron of honor carried a bouquet of white and yellow daisies and baby's breath with beige ribbon streamers and the flower girl carried a basket of white and yellow flowers.

The groom's best man was Estes Graves of Gulfport. Ushers were Andy Favre, Bay St. Louis, brother of the bride, and Gregory Bermond, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride. Dwayne Taylor of Ocean Springs, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Favre received guests wearing a brown crepe and chiffon floor length dress, gold accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride's table, overlaid with an ivory lace cloth, was centered with a four-tiered cake trimmed with yellow roses. Candelabra holding gold tapers were on either side and arrangements of autumn flowers and white bells decorated the reception room.

Miss Tina Schultz of Leesville, La., cousin of the bride, kept the guest register. Mrs. Joseph Bermond, aunt of the bride, presided at the cake table and Mrs. Jerry Page was at the punch-bowl.

For traveling the bride chose a green dress with beige accessories. The orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet completed her ensemble.

The couple will reside in Gulfport.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Loyd, Abita Springs, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Taylor, Ocean

Spring; Mr. and Mrs. John Hilton, Gretna, La.; Mrs. Henry Tonerey and daughters, Biloxi; Allen Goldin, Gulfport; Mrs. Beverly Bachemin and daughters, Arabi, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Parelli, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Carver, and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Mink, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Dewey, James Lee Allen, Virgil Biggot, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Thomas, Gulfport; Marty Fountain and Auther Bowen, Ocean Springs; Mrs. P. ## Disgusting, to say the least

It is disgusting to take a ride down North Beach Blvd., in Bay St. Louis and see the collections of plastic bags of garbage thrown over the seawall at the end of the road, and littering nearly every inch of the way.

It takes someone having very little mental capability to dump garbage everywhere, and we just wonder how in the world they were able to get a driver's license to operate a car, as we are sure they didn't walk that far carrying these large bags of trash.

We, the residents of the Gulf Coast have something many other residents of the State of Mississippi would give anything to have, and that is the Bay of St. Louis, and surrounding waters.

The City of Bay St. Louis, as well as the City of Waveland, has regular garbage collections each week, and why in this world a person has to scatter his garbage and display it where everyone else has to view it is beyond us.

We feel that possibly with little effort, officials could find out the culprits and once their identity is known issue littering charges against them. A few convictions might make them, and others think twice before they toss their garbage over the seawall, or along the roadside.

We are fortunate that not everyone is as ignorant as the ones who toss their garbage over the seawall, because if they were, we wouldn't have a Bay, just a big garbage pile.

Main Street ...

"Such a spirit of cooperation makes the work easier to handle in view of the set-backs and problems faced due to weather," Bennett noted.

He said following conversations with superintendents and engineers, he finds the residents of Main Street affected most by the project are the ones complaining the least.

Bennett said he feels most Bay St. Louis citizens realize the value of the Main Street improvement work.

Diplomas ...

and-or fine arts.

Electives will compose additional required units up to a total of 20 for the advanced diploma, and a total of 16 for the general and basic diplomas.

Advanced courses in math, science, and social studies; Mississippi History; economics; additional foreign languages; physical education, and others would be considered electives.

A further requirement for an advanced diploma would be "...performance level composite score of not less than grade 12 on a standardized achievement test established by the Mississippi State Department of Education."

General diploma graduates would be required to achieve "...performance level composite score of not less than grade eight."

The Certificate in Special Education for the handicapped would be continued "as now defined and awarded," under the committee's recommendations.

The Termination Report for school dropouts "indicates the performance level composite score attained on a standardized achievement test established by the Mississippi Department of Education," as well as an attendance record.

Randolph said survival skills are considered to be proficiency in such areas as the filling out of basic income tax returns, the mathematics of buying a house, the intricacies of household leases and budgets, the basics of property taxes and mortgage assessments, and driver education.

The committee's recommendations call for the State Department of Education to establish a minimum list of survival skills and require that all graduates successfully complete not less than 80 percent of the minimum skills.

Other committee recommendations on procedures for offering survival skills include:

"Survival skills will not be a separate course, but a part of many courses as assigned by the local district."

"Local districts may add to the skills required in that district, and may require that more than 80 percent be successfully completed."

"Pupils may successfully complete the survival skills requirement any time during their ninth through twelfth grade years."

"Pupils who drop out may have earned all required survival skills credits before termination."

"Survival skills credit will be entered in pupil's permanent record and cumulative folder."

"Tests to determine satisfactory completion may be given by the several teachers responsible for teaching survival skills."

Randolph noted that economic education and career education and guidance will be required in the 1978-79 school year by state law.

The curriculum change will be the complete conversion to the metric system by 1980. The superintendent said this conversion has already begun in county schools.

Upon formation of the committee in November, 1976, F. J. Smith, superintendent of Jefferson County schools and chairman of the Core School Accreditation implications of the potential use of a competency-based approach to graduation from high school.

2) To consider the establishment of basic competency areas.

3) To establish minimum competency levels.

4) And to determine the methods of implementation.

The commission formed the committee after it was determined that "...it was the opinion of the commission and the State Department of Education that a competency-based requirements for high school graduation could best be considered and controlled by the Accreditation Commission and the Department of Education."

Input to the committee during its year of study included results of a survey on the various curriculum changes ultimately recommended which was sent to school board members, parents, teachers, and students in a random selection of 25 school districts and communities in the state.

Committee members also studied graduation requirements and competency-based requirements from all the various states significantly at variance with Mississippi requirements.

The committee also considered the work published by the educational society Phi Delta Kappa entitled The New Secondary Education.

Upon receipt of reports from the various superintendents studying the committee report, the Accreditation Commission, following possible revision, is expected to present the report to the State Superintendent of Education and the State Department of Education.

If the findings, or some variation thereof, are approved by the State Board of Education, competency requirements for graduation may become a part of the way of life in Mississippi High Schools.

Chairman of the committee was Dr. Clyde Muse, superintendent of Meridian public schools.

Other committee members include: Otis Allen, superintendent, Leflore County schools; Gladys Austin, classroom teacher, Laurel; W. O. Benjamin, president, Itawamba Junior College; and Dr. Ralph Brewer, director, Division of Instruction, State Department of Education.

Also, Dr. Tom Dulin, superintendent, Winona public schools; Dr. Robert Fortenberry, superintendent, Jackson public schools; Gilmer McLaurin, superintendent, Natchez-Adams separate school district; and Wallace W. Merrill, assistant director, Division of Instruction, State Department of Education, and executive secretary of the Mississippi State Commission on Secondary Education.

And, Harold Morris, headmaster, Copiah Academy; Holace Morris, superintendent, Amory public schools; Julian Prince, superintendent, Tupelo public schools; O. T. Robinson, district staff manager, for management training, South Central Bell, Jackson; Dr. Thomas Richey, superintendent, Pascagoula public schools; and W. F. Smith, superintendent, Newton County schools.

front of the ambulance with driver Jeff Cardledge. Cardledge also serves on the Gulfport Fire Department.

The mother, according to the ambulance report, boarded at 10:27 a.m. Five minutes later, at 10:32 a.m., as the ambulance was approaching Moody's Fountainhead Restaurant, EMT Prevou called upon Cardledge to pull over to the curb, summon aid, and prepare to assist.

Little Anastasia had decided to be born.

Michael Smith had trained for several months to help his wife with breathing exercises when 'the big event' occurred so he too came to the back of the ambulance.

Emergency Medical Technician Billy Bragg of the Gulfport Fire Department also sped to the scene in a motorcade that included four men and two vehicles.

Anastasia, having caused about as much fuss as she knew how at this time, had meanwhile taken her first breaths and put all systems in 'go.'

Reassessment ...

error-filled reassessments which came to light after a computer malout of tax notices recently.

"These notices increased the tax bite from the local populace by four and five fold over that of a year ago," Blake reported.

A release by Blake, concerning the Lowndes County experience outlines some of the problems that may face Hancock County should they fall into the same pitfalls.

Blake in his release said:

Following citizens protest meetings in the Lowndes County Courthouse and a local Columbus motel, taxpayers have been given a temporary stay of the execution of the new tax billing until many obvious errors are cleared up by the appraisal firm employed by the board of supervisors to reappraise real property in that county.

A protest citizens committee has organized a group which calls itself MOVE, with whatever political or economic suggestions that may imply. The letters however actually stand for "Make Our Valuations Equal." And according to spokesmen for the group we conferred with last week, their objectives are not to fight equalization, which they are not opposed to, but rather fight unequalization, which they are.

Reappraisal of property in Lowndes county, citizens contend, was not done as much in the spirit of equalization as it was to bring more dollars into the county treasury. But the upshot of it all is that county supervisors reportedly are as disenchanted with the computerized results as the random taxpayer and were about as suprised as chagrined over the outcome.

The move by county officials came from the supervisors and did not involve the tax assessor's office at all as that official was on sick leave when the supervisors made their move to reappraise county and city property. They awarded a contract to an out-of-state appraisal firm on September 15, 1976, to complete county reappraisal in time for the October, 1977, mailing of tax statements to property owners.

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

I note, by the papers, that the National Organization of Women (NOW) is using persuasion on groups that plan conventions in the future, to avoid holding their conventions in cities which are part of a state whose legislature voted against the Equal Rights Amendment.

This is, to me, a form of blackmail against these respective cities. I believe, that the proponents of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) should have reasons enough supporting the amendment that legislatures will favor it. If not, they should go out and get those reasons and let the amendment stand on its merit alone.

In the same article I noted that the National Education Association (NEA) and the American Library Association (ALA) have come out in favor of NOW's campaign pressuring groups not to hold conventions in cities whose legislatures voted against the ERA.

Did the NEA and the ALA poll their members individually whether they were in support of NOW's project or did the officers of these respective organizations make the decision themselves. It is my belief that this project of NOW is serious enough to warrant the NEA and the ALA to poll their members individually.

Sincerely
Francis Leo Farrelly,
Box 151
New St. Louis.

Now accompanied by a full convoy of emergency equipment and emergency personnel, Anastasia permitted her onward travel to the hospital, where she also alerted family physician and a host of other medical personnel were awaiting her arrival.

A double check with all the latest medical gadgets only resulted in her getting a clean bill of health, and a big grin from the ambulance folks.

LPN-EMT Prevou, who had attended previous childbirths as an observer during her professional training, said it was a normal childbirth. Though still excited over her first delivery, she said it was not the first birth in which Mobile Medic attendants had been involved, and that on one occasion the EMT had helped deliver twins.

Mrs. Smith said later that it was a "perfectly natural childbirth."

"My husband and I have been in a training course at Gulf Coast Association of Prenatal Education that made it all simple," Mrs. Smith is reported as having said.

Among the unhappiest recipients of the new tax statements are farmers, which according to the Lowndes County Farm Bureau, have been hardest hit by the reappraisal. Sharpest criticism of the farmland reappraisal appears to pinpoint the greatest failure as not conducting on-the-farm inspections of property. Aerial photographs and soil maps were used to appraise farms with no consideration given to the capability of a certain field to produce crops based on experience. Too, flood prone fields were equally classed with non-flooding fields for tax purposes when they are sharply unequal in worth due to their site subject to flooding according to the capriciousness of the weather.

Billy Swendenburg, president of the Lowndes County Farm Bureau, reported last week that many farmers in that area will be forced out of business if the new tax reappraisal is allowed to stand. He said there simply was not enough profit in agricultural production to absorb the sharply increased tax load.

Swendenburg's feelings are widespread among Mississippi farmers who feel that farmers' equity in their land and equipment already is strained to near a breaking point by adverse weather and market conditions in recent years. To escalate their tax bill by any great amount would be the last straw that breaks the farmers of Mississippi, they contend.

Critics of the Lowndes county reappraisal say matters were made worse when the reappraisal firm turned data over to a data processing firm in another state without being checked out for practicality or accuracy, and the local citizens received their 1978 tax notices directly from the computer in another state.

Basic data errors compounded the problem and thousands of tax notices were returned due to wrong or inadequate addressing.

So now after several public meetings in Columbus and establishment of the MOVE organization to bring organized strength and legal counsel into the scrap, that Mississippi county remains with reappraisal supposedly done but not accepted.

Lowndes county reappraisal remains 'up in the air' in several meaningful ways.

The People's Business

WHO BENEFITS?

In a recent editorial written by a faculty member of Texas Christian University, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram answered a question many have been asking.

"What are some of things businesses do beside make reasonable profits?" was the question. Correct answers to that often-asked inquiry included:

-Pay dividends which benefit, directly or indirectly, nearly every American.

-Pay one half of all social security taxes.

-Pay all of the unemployment taxes.

-Pay all of the workmen's compensation insurance.

-Contribute more than $1 billion annually to worthwhile charitable and educational causes.

-Provide retirement income to millions of Americans.

-Provide various fringe benefits to employees, such as life and health insurance, paid vacations, recreation facilities, scholarships for employees' children, and health facilities.

-Spend billions of dollars on research developing products to enhance the health and enjoyment of the American citizen.

-Pay income taxes to help finance the government and its many welfare programs.

NASA yesterday said that GSA does not have statutory responsibility for Department of Defense installations or for NASA, both agencies having their own building and facility maintenance and operations program.

"Whenever feasible we have made the facilities at NSTL available to the surrounding communities and this is a policy we shall maintain," Mac Herring, NASA Public Affairs, NSTL, said.

He said, "The energy crisis has led us to pretty much 'power down' over the Herring said application for base usage should be made directly to the NASA-NSTL manager, and each case will be judged on its merits and the availability of suitable space and support facilities at the requested time.

He cited such existing facets of community cooperation as the continuing scout camp program and special interest group luncheons and tours as particular examples of base employment best associated with the Living Buildings concept.

The survey will sample the opinions of all superintendents in the state, as well as those of parents, teachers and business leaders, Randolph noted.

Washington Report

By Trent Lott

HAZARDOUS RAIL-HIGHWAY CROSSINGS NEED ATTENTION

The tragic loss of life at the crossings of railroads and highways in Mississippi is a growing threat to the safety of us all. Last year, more than 1,100 persons died nationally in grade crossing accidents that didn't have to happen.

I have been working with local officials in Mississippi to help reduce the unnecessary toll on human life by improving safety standards at the intersections and, if possible, finding the necessary funds to build overpasses. Federal funds won't be available in most cases for "grade separations," overpasses or underpasses, so we cannot expect to alter traffic routes at every one of the hazardous crossings in the state.

During the course of my investigation, I found that Mississippi, through Section 203 of the Highway Safety Act of 1973, as amended, received more than $1.5 million for the 1977 fiscal year in rail-highway crossing funds. It is my understanding that state officials will soon announce a plan to upgrade 100 of the state's most dangerous crossings, some of them in the Fifth District, through the use of pavement markings, electronic warning devices and, in some cases, gates.

This is a significant step toward reducing the loss of human life. I know few people in the Fifth District who have not been touched in some fashion by accidents at railroad crossings and many more who have narrowly escaped mishaps. It's time for safety standards to be improved.

There is also another side to this issue, involving railroads in Mississippi which sometimes carry cargo of a hazardous nature. Accidental collisions of a train carrying such cargo with a passenger automobile could have a devastating impact on an entire community.

Statistics from the National Transportation Safety Board show that almost 40 percent of the 1,124 persons who died in crossing collisions last year were killed in inter-city accidents. This fact alone emphasizes the importance of "Operation Lifesaver," a program designed to educate the public to the risks of stopping, walking or playing on railroad tracks.

But "Operation Lifesaver" is more than an education technique. It also deals with engineering and enforcement to point out trouble spots and recommend solutions. Although the program has no funds of its own, it helps individual states target those areas where federal appropriations can be used most effectively.

Other states have enjoyed tremendous success with this program. For

agricultural role

The impact of the Small Business Administration's interest in agriculture was outlined this week, as members of the Hancock County MIDAS committee continued their self-educational series.

The Mississippi Industrial Development Assistance Service group has been hearing from all aspects of state and federal government having services available to potential and existing members of the county's industrial and commercial community.

Now in recess until January 13, when they will meet at the offices of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce on US-90, the MIDAS committee this week heard from Sid Spiro of SBA, who explained the differences in programs by his agency and that of Farmers Home Administration.

George Guess, Mississippi State Employment Service, Jackson, who represents the Governor's Office at the MIDAS sessions, said Tuesday that the Hancock group stands by ready to assist the county in any way it can.

"When we get back together in 1978 we will resume our program of work."

"The MIDAS committee is trying to better Hancock County's industrial growth and assist in trying to utilize all the opportunities presently being offered the community."

"We (MIDAS) are not trying to take the credit for anything, nor seek the glory, we are just trying to help get all the natural assets put to work for the good of Hancock County," Guess allowed.

Hawks lose to Bearcats, 14-12

Bowl jinx holds for second week

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hawks of Hancock North Central were on the short end of a 14-12 score Friday night in the Third Annual Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl in Hawk Stadium.

The Hawks out played the Long Beach Bearcats by racking up eight to six first downs and on total yardage put 205 to 149 to the victors. A fourth quarter surge by the Hawks fell short by the total of two missed PAT's. On the first play concerned, quarterback Vincent Adams was rushed way back and fumbled trying to pass, and on the second PAT try, Greg Ladner came up short on the one foot line.

Long Beach scored in the second quarter when Greg Moody rambled in untouched for a 21 yard score. The PAT by David Randall was good giving the Bearcats a 7-0 lead with 5:54 left in the first half.

Other than the score by Long Beach everything was close in the first half with each team not putting any serious drive together.

The play that seemed to down the Hawks spirit was an 80 yard touchdown run by Eddie Henson on returning the opening kickoff for a score. Henson seemed to be stopped several times but was able to mustee enough strength to elude numerous tackles for the entire 80 yard run. Randall added the extra point giving Long Beach a 14-0 lead with only 17 seconds gone in the second half.

Midway in the fourth quarter the Hawks were driving and got to the Bearcat seven where Adams was thrown for a loss to the 27 trying to pass. After turning the ball over to Long Beach on the 17, after a pass completion that was short of a first down, Long Beach fumbled on the second play with Pat Necaise recovering a Bearcat fumble on the 17. On the fourth play Dentist Nelson went in from the three for his first score of the game. With 5:02 left the Hawks were trailing 14-16.

Jess Draime tried an onside kick which was recovered by Long Beach on the Hawks 48. Tight Hawks defense and a clip moved Long Beach back to their 24 where they punted on fourth down, the Hawks getting the ball at midfield.

On the following play Adams pitched out to Nelson who went for 19 yards to the 31. Adams handed off to Nelson again who scampered for 31 yards and his second score of the game. A good try for two by Greg Ladner was a foot short. With only 2:22 left in the game Long Beach led 14-12.

Greg Strief again tried a short kick-off that was recovered by Long Beach on their 30. With time running down on a fourth and four, Long Beach punted. Flags were thrown for unsportsmanship conduct by the Hawks and Long Beach got a first down on the penalty. Two plays later the game was over with the Bearcats in control of the ball.

The Hawks running was good for the entire game. Adams' passing netted two yards, with long yardage lost due to little protection on pass attempts.

The Hawk defense was strong into the fourth quarter allowing the Bearcats only one first down and that on a penalty. In the first quarter Rudy Lawson of Long Beach picked off an Adams' pass and Mike Bendzlowicz stole one in the closing seconds of the first half. The Hawks picked one of Mike White's passes in the first quarter.

Dentist Nelson's 140 yards in 14 carries was awarded the offensive trophy of the game for the Hawks by the Kiln Jaycees. On defense, Richard Storey, on his fine tackles, many of them losses for the Bearcats, was awarded the defensive lineman award for North Central. The runnerup

Farm program options differ for wheat crop

TWENTY-PERCENT SET-ASIDE SCHEDULED FOR WHEAT

"Announced farm program options for 1978-crop wheat will differ substantially from the old allotment programs," Frank A. Gennin, county executive director, Agricultural and Soil Conservation Service, said this week.

Gennin said some of the background of the government's intention to implement a 20-percent set-aside on 1978-crop wheat originated at an Aug. 29 White House briefing at which Acting Secretary of Agriculture John White announced the set-aside plans. White noted that although Congressional action on the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 is not complete, he was announcing set-aside intentions because farmers are beginning to plant their 1978-crop wheat.

A major feature of the new program is the elimination of outdated historical commodity allotments. A normal crop acreage of specified crops will be established for each farm in lieu of individual commodity allotments. Normal crop acreages for individual farms will be based on 1977 plantings of crops, with provisions for adjustment for abnormal factors. Although the base will likely include major food, feed, and oilseed crops, specific crops remain undesignated but will be announced later.

Farmers will have flexibility within their bases to plant the crops they want. Gennin said, adding that farmers will be able to plant crops of their choice within the normal crop acreage.

Farmers participating in the new program will be eligible for loan guarantees and deficiency payment programs.

Obituary

LEON LOHMAN SR.

Leon F. Lohman Sr., 63, a retired bus driver for the New Orleans Transit Authority and a resident of Lakeshore for five years, died Friday at Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis.

A Mass was celebrated Saturday in St. John's Catholic Church in Lakeshore, followed by burial in the Lakeshore Cemetery.

Born in New Orleans, he was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church at Lakeshore.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Bertie Dubuisson Lohman of Lakeshore; two sons, Leon F. Lohman Jr. of New Orleans and Larry Lohman of Clermont Harbor; two sisters, Mrs. Jesse LaFontaine and Mrs. D. V. Green of River Ridge, La.; and two grandchildren. Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis was in charge of arrangements.

PADRE ALESSIO PARENTE - who lived and attended to Padre Pio for the last six years of Padre Pio's life, in Italy, will celebrate Mass and deliver an address concerning his experiences, 7 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 6, at St. Rose de Lima Church, Nacale Ave., Bay St. Louis. Padre Pio, who is credited with many graces received from God through prayer, is the only priest who received the five wounds from Jesus Christ, according to Milton Durrell, director, Friends of Padre Pio.

Gifts sought for Whitfield Christmas

Mississippi State Hospital, volunteers and staff members work together to make the Christmas season a happy and joyous occasion for all the patients of the Hospital. Through the Volunteer Services Department, citizens are given the opportunity to remember and give to those less fortunate through the "Every patient a gift project." On Christmas morning every patient receives a beautifully wrapped package.

The patients are aware that these gifts are made possible through the kindness of people who care, throughout the state.

Almost any gift, especially those in plastic containers, is acceptable. Some suggestions are as follows: cigarettes, candy, cookies, hairbrushes, cosmetics (all kinds for both men and women), scarves, lingerie, house slippers, raincoats, sweaters, and purses. Remember, the patients like pretty things, too. Please do not send used articles.

Do not wrap gifts, as volunteers do this. We request that all packages be sent by Dec. 15 so they may be appropriately selected and wrapped before Christmas. Packages may be mailed to: Volunteer Services Department
